
colonies, 12 principal components; shading gives the proportion within each row